Every unit is the best of what you need. The studios and 1-bedrooms are very private; they're your fair, your domain. The 2-bedrooms are for people who want to entertain; you can have your own space, or have a dinner for six, or a kick-ass party. You want to look good, so the bathrooms and closets are especially big. The bedrooms are as big as you need to sleep, but also more than enough to hang out. It's also more than enough to cover the city, the way you want to live. The space is also more than enough to cover the city, the way you want to live. The space is also more than enough to cover the city, the way you want to live. It's also about seduction and atmosphere. In all, the apartments employ a very targeted use of space.
